CENSUS JOBS GO BEGGING

STATES SUPERVISOR BAILEY
There is a real dearth of applications for the positions as census enumerators in the state of Connecticut according to a statement yesterday by Prof. Wm. B. Bailey, of Yale, supervisor of the census for Connecticut. Professor Bailey said that while 750 men were needed to do the work only about half that number had so far applied for positions, although but two or three weeks remain in which applications for these positions may be filed with the supervisor of the census in this state.

AGED WOMAN CARRIED

New Britain, Nov. 5.—Damage to the extent of about $2,000 was caused by a fire in the Stanley building owned by Morris Schupack, yesterday. The building is in the business center of the city and much serious results were threatened for a time. The firemen were slow in getting their ladders up and an aged woman who occupied apartments on the top floor had to be carried to the street.

DELIVERY

STRATFORD

The late George O. Lines having died intestate, his son, George O. Lines, Jr., has been appointed administrator of the estate.

Mrs. Allen left town today for a visit to South Britain.
It is understood in well informed circles that next March or April quite a party of our well-known citizens will leave for a tour in the Holy Land, including Mr. and Mrs. Elliott W. Peck, Miss Dorothy Peck, Miss Carrie Peck, and Mrs. Sterling of Bridgeport, sister of Elliott W. Peck.
Officers of the law are looking after some young rascals who dwell on Hollister Heights, who carried their fun loving propensities a little too far on All Halloween. They procured a pot of red paint, and spotted the outside of the house of Mrs. Mary Markey, said to be a new comer, until it looked as if it had an attack of confluent measles. A dead muskrat was thrown into the well, to the contamination of the water and other jokes were perpetrated.

It is quite possible some of our citizens went to New Haven yesterday to attend the bi-centennial of the celebrated English author and lexicographer Dr. Samuel Johnson, who was born in Litchfield, England, in 1709. But how he should in any way be connected with this town, since he was never in America, is one of those puzzles which set Judge Curtis, Mrs. Hudson, Stiles Judson, and other worthies, to wondering yesterday. In a copy of a paper a portrait of the Rev. Samuel Johnson who once preached in Stratford as well as a picture of Christ Episcopal church, erected in town in 1745. Possibly our beloved townsman, Rev. N. Ellsworth Cornwall, thinking to take advantage of the semi-centennial celebration just held in this ancient village, thought it would be a good time to work off an old picture of Rev. Samuel Johnson, as a portrait of the great dictionary maker, whose life was written by Boswell. In truth, there were two Samuel Johnsons, but the one New Haven is celebrating was not the one who once preached in Stratford.

A number of Red Men went over to Bridgeport last night to play pinch.

A recent dinner party at Stratford Inn consisted of Stiles Judson, William B. Tuttle, Sidney Hawley, Frank L. Curtis, T. J. Carr, Chas. F. Stagg and Mr. Hurley.

Some people in town want Nichols avenue macadamized.

It is announced that the Neighborhood church is to be renovated. A coat of paint would improve its appearance.

It is thought the addition to the center school house will not be completed before the first of April. In that case it will not be occupied until the beginning of the next school year.

A day or two ago, while working in a field cutting corn, Homer Wakeley stepped into a hole which was covered with leaves, and broke his ankle. The fracture was reduced by Dr. Howland.

The Clapboard Hill road is being put in better condition.

Yesterday the assessors with the advisory committee, started out to view the real estate of the town, and discover its value, that assessments for taxes may be made in accordance with law.

It is expected that on Saturday afternoon the Corinthian football team will play the Ansonia High school team.

Mr. Blakeman, Mr. Beardslee and Mr. Andrews, Supt. of Schools, recently paid a visit to Hamstead, L. I., and inspected a ten room school house in order to see for themselves how the new crematory sanitary apparatus works. They were highly pleased with results.

Mrs. John Carley and children of Devon soon start for High Bridge, Ky., to spend the winter. Mr. Carley is employed at this place.

Little progress has been made thus far in the matter of purchasing a lot on Barnum avenue for the Hollister Heights school. The town appropriated $2,000 for the purpose, but some of the School Board think $2,500 is quite enough. It is hoped condemnation proceedings will not have to be put in operation.

As the addition to the Center school is to be of brick, no frame work will be needed.

Work has begun on Newton Reed's new house on Blakeman place.

A meeting was held last night at Mr. James Sexton's for the purpose of organizing an Order of Maccabees.
